

WORK COLLEGE

Northeast Texas Community College

Meet Courtney.....

When asked what was one thing she learned from being in the Work4College Program this past summer at NTCC Courtney stated (with a laugh) “What I learned in kindergarten really is something I needed to know later in life. I spent all summer working in the Allied Health Department where most of my work consisted of filing. My supervisor explained to me the reasons why everything needed to be in perfect alphabetical order! Knowing my ABC’s proved to be a lifesaver.”

Although Courtney recently graduated from Mt. Pleasant High School, she is not your average college freshman. Courtney has a son, Ayden, who will turn two years old this January. She said being a young, single mom, she just did not think college was a possibility. After some strong encouragement by a few ladies in the local community, she enrolled in classes last spring. She then participated in the Work4College Program last summer and is currently enrolled fulltime this fall (in classes that she has paid off in advance through the W4C Program)! In addition, she is also working in a new job while going to class and taking care of her son.

Courtney plans on being a nurse. She said her goal is to be a role model for her son and show him that anything is possible if you are willing to work for it!
